

Banana Island has three distinct communities: Stuarts, Kevins and Bobs.

Each member of your group is a "Governor" with 20 soldiers and significant budgets (money is not an issue). How would you divide this island in such a way that it could be administered and exploited for its resources by your group? (You do not have enough soldiers to occupy the island, so you may have to consider an arrangement with one of the local communities.)

