

CUI 4U1: Final Research Paper

Preparing for post-secondary education

Exploring Canadian History, Identity and Culture

The research paper is the most challenging task students encounter in senior history courses (as well as post-secondary programs). Writing a sound historical research essay requires an ability to carry out in-depth research, make effective notes, formulate and defend a clear thesis, apply critical, analytical and creative thinking skills, and organize information in a logical and coherent fashion. On top of all of this, a formal essay must be effectively written and accurately documented.

Students will select essay topics of particular interest to them. Select a topic carefully. Topics that focus on other disciplines or on current events are not likely to be approved – there must be appropriate research material available to you.

Maintaining a Processfolio

To ensure your greatest success and to safeguard against plagiarism, all students are advised to maintain a Processfolio. The Processfolio is a collection (in a folder) of work you complete as your essay progresses.
