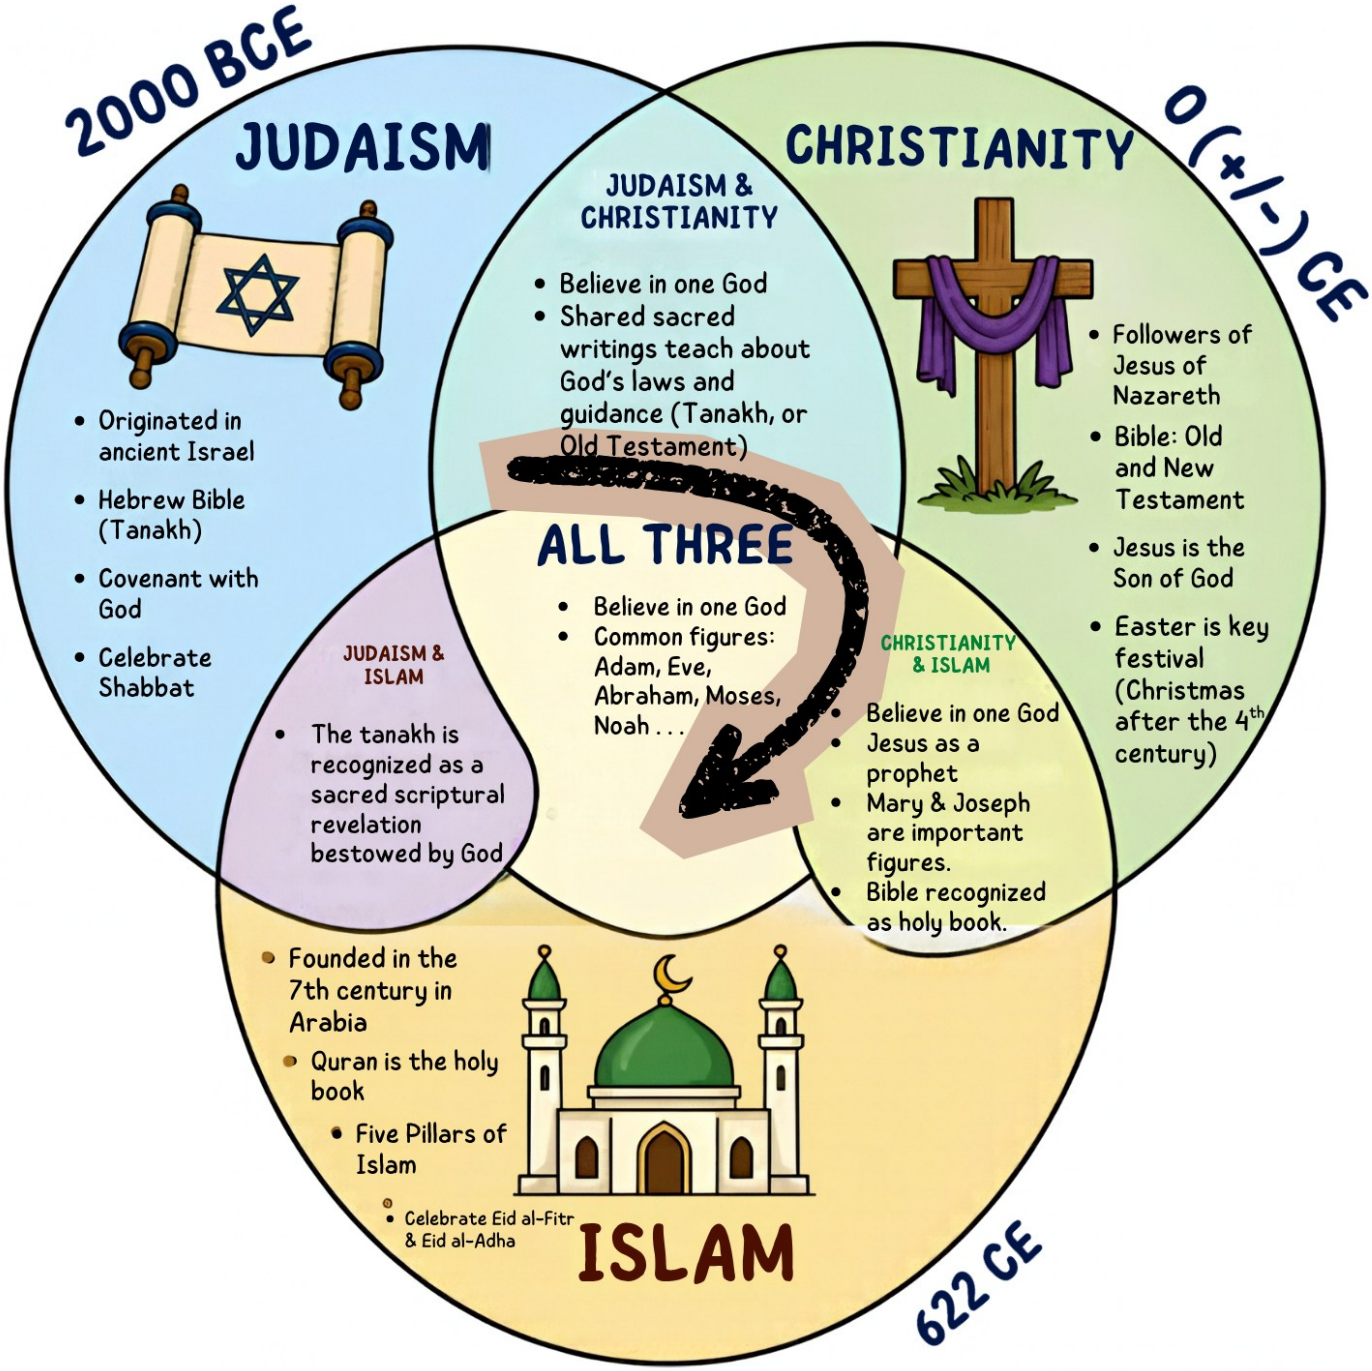
Relationships among the Abrahamic Faiths



This resource is meant to illustrate, in general terms, some of the relationships among Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Of course, there are many nuances that are not covered in such a simplified representation. This resource is not meant to serve as a comparison or imply a progression of faith, but rather to help students understand when each faith emerged, the historical period in which it did so, and how the faiths are interrelated.

Created September 2026