

Transferring your Closest Friendship

- Think of the relationship you have with your best friend, or family member.
- Create a written document that perfectly outlines and concretely defines that relationship. You can create as many sections, clauses and definitions that you need in order to articulate your relationship in a way that allows it to be accepted and transferred to another person.
- REMEMBER: You will have to define abstract words so that the person entering into this contract knows exactly what you are talking about (example: what do you mean by words like trust, love, loyalty, confidence, etc).

